The result to be achieved by the library strategy

1. The library is a great place for interest education. Library group - you will learn everything about books in it:

their creation, reading, care, including how to find, structure, summarize, compare information; classes will complement your knowledge to spend time meaningfully, interestingly and cognitively. This group is attended by students of different ages. As part of the group, participants will be trained as mentors to further attract and support the involvement of younger students in library visits, reading activities and cognitive games.
2. The library is a great place for various competitions, quizzes and promotions - librarians work so that the library can be heard and seen, because the library must be the heart of the school.
3. The library is open to all students, and librarians and student mentors are happy to welcome readers and help them choose from their first book to improve their reading skills.
4. The library is made up of two parts: active and quiet. Socialization takes place in the active - games, reading aloud, laughter and joy, but in the quiet - preparing reports, reading quietly, taking notes or just being quiet.
